REJECTION OF LEAGUE IS URGED BY SEN. HARDING

POPULATION OF UNITED STATES IS ANNOUNCED

Growth of Country is Slower During Last Decade Due to World War

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—The population of continental United States is 105,683,198, an increase of 12,519,842, or 14.9 per cent.

This figure does not include approximately 12,500,000 people living in the country's outlying possessions. The population of Alaska and the four ceded under the military and naval service abroad is yet to be announced.

The growth of the country's population was not expected to show so large a relative increase during the last decade as during the previous decade ended with 1910 because of the almost complete stoppage of immigration during the world war and the heavy emigration during that period. In the decade ending with 1910 the total population of the United States, exclusive of its outlying possessions, was 91,972,265. During those 10 years the numerical increase was the largest of any decade in its history, while the rate of growth was 21 per cent. The gain in that decade was four times what the total population of the country was in 1790 when the first federal census was taken, while the total population in 1910 was almost 21 times larger than it was in 1790.

With the outlying possessions, the United States in 1910 had a population of 101,115,487. These possessions included Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, the Philippine Islands, the Panama canal zone, Guam and Samoa, and the total of persons in the military and naval service abroad was added. This year the population of the Virgin Islands of the United States, acquired from Denmark, is included.

That apportionment, as soon as Director Rogers certifies to congress the exact number of people in each state, will be taken up by the house of representatives at its next session and during the coming year the body will by law fix the number of congressmen from each state. There has been discussion as to whether the membership of the house of representatives, now fixed at 435, should not be reduced, as that number is considered by some parliamentarians as too large and unwieldy a body.

People of some states are fearful that their representation in the house might be cut down and oppose any reduction. In 1790 the number of representatives was fixed at 65, each representing approximately 300,000 people. The number has increased with each decade, based on census returns, until each of the present 435 members of the house represents approximately 211,877. The actual ratio of representation varies from 69,293 in Nevada to 228,027 in Washington, Nevada, Delaware, Wyoming and Arizona, whose populations were less than the number which would entitle them to one representative by apportionment, were each given one under constitutional provision that each state shall have at least one representative in the house.

ONE STABBED—COOKS TOLD TO BE GOOD

The cooks at the S. P. clubhouse at Inlay went on the war path the other day and fought a sort of duel with butcher knives. At least, when the affray was over, one man found a knife sticking in his chest. Dr. Bond patched up the injured man and Constable Nelson admonished them to keep the peace hereafter.

SINN FEIN IS NOT DIVIDED SAYS GRIFFITH

Dublin Leader Repeats Charge That Reprisals are Result of British Policy

(By Associated Press)
DUBLIN, Ireland, Oct. 7.—Reports that the Sinn Fein organization has become divided against itself were vigorously denied today by Arthur Griffith, leader of that organization, during an interview with the Associated Press.

He reiterated his charges that the raids of reprisals were the result of a calculated policy of British government officials, and challenged Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, who recently denied these charges, to submit him to an investigation by an impartial tribunal.

One of the most sensational of the charges made was that many untried political prisoners had been "tortured in prison with medieval methods to force them to give false information against the Irish leaders." He declared he would later make these methods public. He described the system called "planking," which, he alleged, had been adopted recently in night raids. "The British government," he asserted, "is sending on these raids men disguised as English officers or Dublin policemen. They carry ammunition and forged documents which they place, say, under a bed, and then call in soldiers to search the house where the papers have been deposited."

Oddie and Arentz to Speak Here Tomorrow

Plans are being made for a huge Republican rally at the Ardmore tomorrow evening when Hon. Tasker L. Oddie, candidate for United States senator, and Samuel S. Arentz, candidate for representative, will address the voters of Tonopah. Mr. Oddie and Mr. Arentz will come here this evening from Manhattan where they have been visiting the voters and are holding a meeting. Mr. Oddie is well known to the residents of Tonopah through his connection with the various mines of the camp, and needs no introduction. This is Mr. Arentz's first entrance into politics, but he has played an important part in the development of Nevada and he is being enthusiastically received in the parts of the state he has visited. Attorney Hugh Henry Brown will preside at the meeting tomorrow night, and it is expected that the Ardmore will be packed to the doors to listen to the discussion of the issues of the campaign by these men. Both men are making a hard fight for the election in the office they are seeking, and from all indications both have better than an even chance of carrying the state. After the meeting tomorrow evening a dance will be given at the same place.

MANY ALIENS LEAVE NEVADA

Internal revenue officials report that they are being kept busy straightening up the affairs of real-estate aliens preparing to leave Nevada lands, says the Journal. These persons before departing must report their incomes for the period from January 1, 1917, to the date of departure. This is for income tax purposes. In some cases certificates are required from the employers. When all the requirements are complied with a certificate is issued by the customs officials at the place of embarkation stating that the person in question is a resident alien, the subject of a designated country, and that complete details have been obtained as to income taxes due or collected.

FOREST PLANES DO GOOD WORK

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 7.—Airplane forest patrols in California were able recently to reach the scene of a fire 45 hours sooner than had they proceeded by train and pack mule, a report to the army air corps shows. An aerial observer spotted the blaze in Lassen forest while all foresters were engaged in fighting another fire in the Merced forest. Planes picked up the fire lights in the forest and rushed them to the Lassen fire.

In three hours, says the report, the fire-fighting personnel was on the job fighting the flames, whereas had they proceeded by train and pack mule 48 hours would have been consumed.

He called on all of those favoring a compromise movement to "vote the Democratic ticket and pray to God no further war would be the consequence of it, God bless it."
